Jerry,
I never know what to say in these things - but here goes: You're a really good Marked Milton (the third), never forget our play! how you were good ole love-sick Manny. Maybe next you will have a class or two together
so I can write - Never forget... class.
All the best and good luck with your girl collection.

Deena
P.S. Will you please
buy my last pack of Tootsie-pop - Drops?

Jerry,

to a really sweet guy I met in algebra. ~~and~~ I only wish we could have gotten to know one another better. Always remember those boring mornings in American Lit. with Mendem. Good luck in the future and especially in your senior year.
Make the most of it. Lotsa luck with the ladies too, but then again you don't need any luck with all that charm.

Love,
Shirley '79

To Jerry -
A Friend I hope to have always
and you better get
a job so you can support
that ~~horion~~ of girls.

Elwood "Chick" Rehrig

Many factors influence a successful high school athletic program. The players, coaches, administrators, student spirit and fan support all contribute to the end result. However, one element has remained constant in the Lehigh High School athletic program for the past 30 years. That essential has been Mr. Elwood "Chick" Rehrig, the LHS athletic director.

Mr. Rehrig graduated from Lehigh High School in 1933 where he played baseball and was a member of the varsity track team. After high school, he attended East Stroudsburg State College and then returned to his alma mater as a member of the faculty. In addition to his duties as a mathematics teacher, he also served as a coach. In 1949, he assumed the duties of faculty manager, the post which today carries the title of Athletic Director.

As the athletic program developed from the old traditional "football, basketball, baseball and track for boys" into a comprehensive part of the total educational system for girls as well as boys, Mr. Rehrig played a major role of leadership not only in Lehigh but also throughout the area. In 1963, he was elected president of the Lehigh Valley Interscholastic Athletic Association, a league with eight member schools. He continued serving in that office until four years ago, when the Centennial Interscholastic Athletic Association was born. Since he had been the guiding influence in the formation of the new alignment, Mr. Rehrig was elected president of the nine-member CIAA. Mr. Rehrig has also served on committees at the state level as a member of the Pennsylvania Athletic Directors Association.

So for the past 16 years, Mr. Rehrig's influence has not only extended across the entire athletic program at LHS, but as league president he has been responsible for scheduling, administering, assigning officials, planning playoffs and tournaments, mediating differences of policy between schools and, in general, promoting high school athletics in our section of the state. Perhaps his most notable achievement has come in the area of game officials. His efficient and business-like method of assigning game officials has earned him their total respect.

Mr. Rehrig has begun to delegate some of his duties to other interested educators in anticipation of the day when he decides to retire from actively promoting high school sports. But it will be in the very distant future when he will attend a high school athletic event in the area and not be recognized by a player, coach, official, school administrator, media personality or spectator who will want to share the latest in sports with his friend "Chick".

As inevitable as time itself, the summer passed, never to be looked upon again. Throughout journey of time, we would pause at our tree of knowledge called High School for a final look.

September 7, 1977 marked the beginning of the final branch of our schooling. From this limb grew new branches that bloomed with the leaves of leadership in our school and community.

These leaves reached toward the ultimate goal of graduation, a faint dream soon to become a reality. Because we were Seniors, the responsibilities of holding class and club officerships and learning new ideas readied us for our journey toward greater horizons.

Leaders of tomorrow blossom from leaders of today. They worked in the classroom and on the playing field. They lead their teams and organizations to prepare for future endeavors in life. They strove for excellence of mind and body, developing their skills, which could be summoned upon for a final surge of energy to conquer an unbeatable foe.

The limb of leadership spanned the universal world of music. Our school became the host to the District Band Festival, a collection of musicians each varied and individualistic, yet tied by a common ribbon — musical excellence.

Leadership is the key branch in our tree of knowledge, yet by no means, the final one. A tiny seedling was nurtured and coaxed to grow by the hands of our parents, teachers, and friends. Tiny leaves were each experience throughout our life, each combining to create an entire person. Buds grew into blossoms as we matured and myriads of bees were the people who touched our lives, pollinating us with their own wisdom. As the flowers shriveled and died, tiny masses of life developed. These became the fruits of our labor, each housing the seeds of our own knowledge, ready to be plucked by the hands of time and to reap its benefits.

Picked and replanted, so that our lives and knowledge may continue to grow, so that we, as individual trees, may shade smaller saplings from the blazing harshness of life, to protect those younger blossoms and share some of our knowledge with them. And most importantly, so that we, as individuals, may be smiled upon by the large, matured trees, to be protected by their leaves and be recipients of their wisdom, to continue the eternal growth of knowledge in the forest of life.

EXCLUSIVE: First photos of dinosaur tracks

By JANE SEIGENDALL
Of The Morning Call

(C)The Morning Call 1978

It may be hard to imagine that dinosaurs scampered and lumbered about the Lehigh Valley almost 200 million years ago.

But study continues at a recently uncovered site near Coopersburg, which not only proves their existence here, but also has yielded information about several species apparently unknown to scientists anywhere in the world at this time.

Other fossil footprints of species like the rutiodon or phytosaur, a 10-12 foot long crocodile-like animal, have been uncovered, marking the first information about the animal's appearance in Pennsylvania, according to Jim Turner, discoverer of the site.

Turner said he found the site by applying characteristics of other fossil sites. He said he previously discovered some dinosaur tracks near Lansdale. He began by finding mud cracks, water ripple marks, raindrop imprints and plant fragments and theorized that if there were dinosaurs in the area, they could have made tracks in the muddy or swampy soil. He was right.

He said the site, which is yielding fossil imprints some 195 million years old, is extremely valuable because of its potential for scientific information and study. The site has many fossil imprints concentrated in a relatively small area.

THE MORNING CALL

WEEKENDER

NO. 108 NOVEMBER 11, 1978 ★

15 cents

The staff for the 1971 edition of the Gachtin Bambil introduced several features which have since become a traditional part of the yearbook. One of these innovations was to dedicate the annual to all graduates of Lehigh High School by honoring one person who had recently done something which merited public attention. As the staff of 1971 phrased it, they wished to honor someone who had "made news".

One member of that staff is currently "making news". But she is doing it in a different sense than the staff may have had in mind when they initiated the feature in 1971. As the Associate Editor for the Gachtin Bambil, Jane Seigendall was instrumental in helping to bring a new look to the annual. Her biography included the following information:

"Seig possesses auburn hair and hazel eyes, craves spaghetti, likes the color yellow and diving, has a cat, Figaro, and prizes her ancient cello, can be found with the gang and heard saying little witticisms."

The Senior Directory records that, in addition to her yearbook duties, Jane was a member of the Girls' Choir, the Mixed Chorus and Mixed Group and the Sextette. She played in the Marching and Concert Bands and the Orchestra. She participated in Varsity Basketball as a senior and in intramural basketball, volleyball and hockey. She served as both a Jay Vee and Varsity cheerleader and held membership in the Dramatics Club, F.T.A. and Gym Club. She was an oratorical contestant and was elected to the National Honor Society.

Jane Seigendall matriculated at East Stroudsburg State College from which she graduated cum laude in 1975 with a Bachelor of Arts degree in English. Her minors included psychology and journalism.

During her years at East Stroudsburg Jane was elected to the Student Government Association and served on the committee for academic affairs. She was also elected to the Dorm Council and the Interdorm Council. She served as secretary of the National Honor English Fraternity and held membership in the English Forum, the Secondary Education Association and the National Council of Teachers of English. And, she found time to be a varsity cheerleader captain.

In the spring of 1974, Jane volunteered for Project Upward Bound, in which she worked with small numbers of high school pupils who had college level abilities but who lacked motivation because of cultural and environmental problems.

But all of these outstanding achievements became "old news" in late 1975 when Jane joined the Allentown Call-Chronicle Newspapers as an editorial intern. Through dedication and her interest in journalism, she completed her internship and was named the editor of the Weekender Calendar. Once again, Jane found herself in an innovative situation.

The Weekender is the regular Saturday edition of the Morning Call. The Calendar is an eight-day listing of coming events around the Lehigh Valley and throughout the Morning Call service area. The Calendar is the centerpiece of the Weekender and thereby has a unique position in the magazine-type format.

As the editor it was Jane's job to keep her finger on the pulse of the interesting events which were happening throughout the Lehigh Valley and to tell the public about them via the Weekender Calendar. Her job involved a high degree of personal contact with the public. As a result, Jane is well known not only to the many readers but also to many contributors.

As the weekender calendar became an established and on-going feature, Jane once again accepted a new challenge. She became a member of the Metro News Team with the responsibility to cover major stories throughout the circulation area of the Call-Chronicle newspapers. As a result, numerous stories now carry her by-line.

And, so the staff of the 1978 Gachtin Bambil commends Jane Seigendall for her devotion to the field of journalism. We honor her for her achievements in her chosen career. Through her we also celebrate the achievements of all alumnae of Lehigh High School who in some way have perpetuated the image of their school and have helped to keep it in the news.

And to Jane, who was herself once a member of our group, we extend our sincere best wishes for a long and successful career in "making news".

Class History

Today is September 7, 1977. Another summer has passed and again we enter the portals of knowledge and our classes at LHS. As we enter these halls, the echos of summer fade away, and a serious mood envelopes us. The 180 day school year seems to stretch endlessly before us. But this idea is dismissed as we delight in renewing our acquaintances and anticipate an exciting year ahead.

To guide us through our junior year we elected Mary Hunsicker to serve as President, and Brian Zellers, Vice President, to assist her. Nikolai Millen was elected Treasurer and as Secretary we chose Rebecca Diaz. Our class advisor, Mr. Owens, helped us to plan for the coming year.

Throughout the year many from our ranks participated in various activities of school life. We entered the annual Halloween Parade as "Monster Mash", complete with a wolfman, ghouls, and witches.

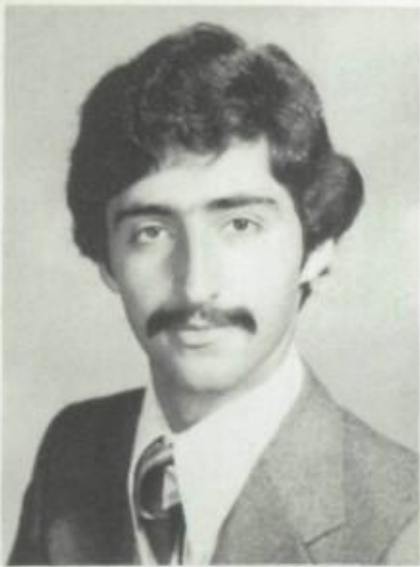

Members from our class also actively participated in Student Council and its various functions.

We were well represented in sports as well, with some juniors shining especially bright. We are very proud of them.

Others in our class participated in the Junior Class Play, "Brother Goose". We also had the opportunity to attend the Junior-Senior Prom at Holiday Inn West which proved a pleasurable experience for many.

So overall it has been a busy and gratifying year. But as our junior year draws to a close, we look to the future, and our senior year with great expectations.

Class History

As we all know, the river starts at the source. We the Freshman Class of 1981 entered the doors of the Lehigh Area High School on September 7, 1977. At this time we were only at the source of gaining our knowledge to learn to go on, until we reach the final step, the mouth of the river. The river keeps on flowing over the ups and the downs of falls. The Freshman Class had their ups and their downs each day, just like the river had its ups and downs. The river must start to flow. Our first Freshman Class meeting was led by our class advisor Mr. Brophy. At this time class officers were selected by Freshman students. Beverly Burke was chosen to be our class president, while Jean Steigerwalt was chosen to be our class vice president. Julie Frey was our secretary and Terri Barilla our treasurer. Most rivers flow at a rapid pace. Jesse Gargoles, Monica Gouw, Kevin Husicker, Roxanne Huseman, Donna Mertz, Robert Miller and Lori Rabenold were our representatives in student council. A river will become divided into different tributaries and they will go their own way. There were a variety of clubs for the Freshmen to join, and participate in the fun. This year the float for the Halloween Parade was STAR WARS, students who participated and built the float enjoyed it. When the tributaries extend, miles of rivers are again formed. The Freshman Class would like to extend its thanks to Mr. Brophy for his time to get the Freshman Class started in their first year at L.H.S. Meanwhile, the river will go on and so will we, until we reach the final end of the great river. We all wish for an even better year, next year.

CONSIDER A CAREER IN CHIROPRACTIC

CHIROPRACTIC FACT SHEET

The chiropractic profession was established in 1895.

Chiropractic is one of the three major general schools of healing.

Today approximately 18,000 chiropractic physicians serve millions of chiropractic patients throughout the nation.

1,000 chiropractic physicians practice in Pennsylvania alone. Opportunities for placement in the profession are practically unlimited. 5,000 chiropractic physicians are needed now. It has been estimated that an additional 5,000 will be needed during the next five years to keep pace with the increasing population.

EDUCATION

Pennsylvania's chiropractic physicians must be high school graduates and take two years of college studies in physics, chemistry, and biology. This is followed by four years of study in a College of Chiropractic.

Before the graduate is permitted to practice in Pennsylvania he must pass a comprehensive three-day examination prepared by the State Board of Chiropractic Examiners in:

Anatomy, Physiology, Histology, Chemistry, Pathology, Bacteriology, Diagnosis, Symptomatology, Hygiene, Sanitation, Chiropractic, Analysis, X-Ray, Chiropractic Principles and Demonstration of Technique.

Pennsylvania accepts certification from the National Board of Chiropractic Exams for licensure.

Doctors of chiropractic are licensed to practice in Pennsylvania through the Chiropractic Registration Act. There are 10 recognized Colleges of Chiropractic in the United States, one in Canada and one in England. Total student capacity is approximately 7,000.

RECOGNITION

Council on Chiropractic Education

The United States Commissioner of Education has approved the Council on Chiropractic Education (C.C.E.) as the official accrediting agency for the Chiropractic profession.

Recognition is unrestricted and the C.C.E. will be listed as a recognized agency in all lists published by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare office of education.

Is briefly defined as the science of health and disease viewed from a structural standpoint with special consideration given to spinal mechanisms and neurological relationships, and how those relationships may affect the restoration and preservation of health.

For further information about requirements for the practice of chiropractic in your locality, please write to the Secretary of the State Board of Chiropractic Examiners in the respective capital of the state or province in which you reside. Additional information can be obtained by writing to Dr. John J. Dematte, Route 209, Lehighton, Pa. 18235
